

DECODING DYSLEXIA

A child with dyslexia was asked to provide a writing sample. He asked if he could write a poem. Try to look at that first without reading the translation.

Fore wite pos,
Like churning water,
She dashes throu the howes,
Breaking the speed limit,
My littal kitty

Finn, age 9

"Four white paws,
Like churning water,
She dashes through the house,
Breaking the speed limit,
My little kitty"
